

Was the Bill More Expensive than Normal?

The amount on this bill is higher than normal because the cost of electricity energy tax has been moved from your electricity supply bill to your network bill. The change does not affect your total electricity cost.

If you are a customer of Sandviken Energi, you will probably notice that your network bill from us has become more expensive, while the bill from your electricity supplier has become cheaper. Parliament has decided that from the 1st of January 2018, it is the network operators' responsibility to bill the customers for electricity energy tax.

Up until now, the electricity suppliers have been the ones to bill the customers by adding energy tax to the electricity supply bill. The energy tax is simply moved from one bill to another, but the changes don't affect your total electricity cost.

Once you have paid the energy tax to us, we will account for it and pay the money on to the Swedish Tax Agency. In 2018, the energy tax is 0.331 SEK per kWh excluding VAT (0.4138 SEK per kWh including VAT).

What's the difference between electricity supply and network?

You can't choose your network, but Sandviken Energi Elnät AB owns, runs and maintains all of the network's electrical lines and stations in your area. We make sure that electricity can be transported to your home.

The electricity supplier is the company you buy your electricity from. Sandviken Energi doesn't sell electricity, so you pay the company you have chosen to enter into an electricity supply agreement with for your electricity usage.
